„Strategic Alliances for Quality Dual VET and International Mobility“

Many European countries have reformed their vocational training systems in recent years to make them practice-oriented (dual). At the same time, great efforts have been made to involve learners in mobility projects. However, international partnerships for mobility of trainees from dual training are still relatively rare. This is due to, among other things, sometimes considerable differences between national education systems, youth labour markets and socio-cultural systems and knowledge of them.

The "doALLVET" partnership builds strategic international partnerships to improve awareness and knowledge of VET models between EU countries with different vocational education systems.

The partners develop mobility programmes for apprentices and students, teachers and school management staff in strategic sectors such as for example Industry 4.0, food industry, tourism and services. Particular attention is paid to aspects of equal treatment and the promotion of social inclusion. They get to know the different vocational training systems with the key points competence development, quality assurance, design of in-company learning phases and good practice. They build international networks with actors from public administrations, VET providers and enterprises to establish long-term alliances for vocational learning and mobility.

The strategic partnership is promoted and implemented under Spanish coordination within the EU ERASMUS+ programme.
